Undercover Words

When you are reading or writing a text, descriptive words can be used to communicate to the reader details that add more information about what is happening. Read the following passage from the story.

'It looked nothing like the colourful books I usually borrowed. I flipped through the thick, yellowed pages. A folded sheet of paper fluttered out and slid noiselessly to the carpeted floor. After glancing around, I opened it out and discovered a child-like, hand-drawn treasure map. The type supposedly drawn by pirates. Feeling like a thief, I slipped it into my pocket and shoved the book back above the others in the shelf.'
