Worksheet 3

Crash

Retell the Story

The story 'Crash' is written in the 'first person' context. In other words, Amanda is telling the story from her point of view.

Imagine that the story is written from Mr. Crump's point of view. Do you think it would be different?

Pretend you are Mr. Crump. Retell the story from your point of view. Use the following first paragraph to help get you started.

My life as a bus driver is not that easy. Most of the time it's OK but the main problem is those darn kids. They're always terrorising my bus. One of these days I'm going to report the whole lot of them. That girl – what's her name? Amanda! She's the worst! And I told her so too. Anyway, the other day those naughty kids were sitting at the back of the bus (as always) and she let out an almighty scream. I'm sure you could hear it in Timbuktu! Well, just as I was turning around to tell her off, you wouldn't believe what happened…
